PÉNICHE-HOTEL CAROLINE
TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Reservations are confirmed upon payment of a deposit equal to 35% of the cruise price. The remainder must be paid 90 days before the start of the cruise. If the cruise should be booked less than 90 days before start, the total amount is to be paid at the time of the reservation.

Cancellation Policy:

If the cruise is cancelled more than 120 days before the start of the cruise, a cancellation fee of US$ 400 (250 euros) per person will be retained.

- For a cruise cancelled between 120 days and up to 90 days before the cruise date, the entire deposit is forfeited.
- For a cruise cancelled less than 90 days before the cruise date, there is no refund of any payments, including deposit and final payment.

To avoid unnecessary costs in the event of cancellation, we strongly recommend that you secure trip cancellation insurance.

The owners reserve the right to change the cruise route and direction under the following and similar circumstances: low water or flooding conditions caused by weather and climate, floods, storms, interruption of navigation on the channels, channel closures caused by repairs to locks and their mechanisms. Such change in navigation, as well as any damages and loss of the technical mechanisms of the ship cannot be claimed as a basis for passengers' cancellation of the cruise nor reduction of the travel price or other financial remuneration. Any damage to the ship will be repaired as quickly as technically possible, so that the passengers can continue their cruise as soon as possible. Unexpected circumstances and any other events that are not foreseeable and which are beyond the control of the ship or its owners, as well as acts of God and force majeure and general risks cannot be claimed as the basis for the cancellation of a cruise already begun or to a reduction of the cruise price. If the ship, for technical or other reasons, cannot begin the booked cruise or if the cruise must be cancelled by the owners for reasons of force majeure or other circumstances that are not foreseen and which are beyond the control of the owners, before the beginning of the cruise, then the paid travel price will be completely refunded, and this will release the owners from any further claims of damages and no further right to reduction or other financial remuneration is thereby granted to passengers by the ship or the owners. The owners will however try to find an equivalent alternative, but cannot be held responsible for any additional costs which may be incurred by substituting an alternative cruise. Insurance against accident and illness or damage and loss of the personal possession of the passengers are not included in the price and the owners bear no responsibility for such losses or accidents nor can they assume any liability for such occurrences. The owners therefore recommend expressly that the passengers secure appropriate insurance.

With the reservation of a cruise on the Caroline, passengers acknowledge that they are aware of the dangers, which can result from the transport on a ship. This includes also the transport in the car, trips ashore as well as the use of the bicycles. This includes, but not exclusively, the possibility of injury by tripping, falling, coming on board or departing the ship, and possible injuries cause by maneuvers or collision of the ship. The ship or the owners are not responsible for injuries, illness, death or loss or damage to personal articles and possession of the passengers. If the passengers should notice any problems or deficiencies during the cruise, then the passengers must communicate these immediately to the owners or the captain. No claims can be accepted after the cruise is completed. If no extra surcharge is paid for the sole use of the ship, there is no claim on the sole usage. Additional guests may attend the charter week.

In all decisions concerning the security of the ship and the passengers, the captain has the last and final word.
